City Visitor Wins Today's 'Best Driver'

Eugene Rubingh, Neerlandia, was named "Today's Courtroom Driver" on the second day of Edmonton Safety Council's Courtroom Campaign.

Today's courtesy and safety award deals with dimming lights, and the Council points out that the larger portion of people killed in 1967 traffic accidents met death during darkness when only one-fourth to one-third of traffic was on the road.

Dim your lights when: (1) approaching a vehicle at night, (2) following another vehicle closely, and (3) when driving after dark on illuminated roadways.

Never iddle in retaliation against the other fellow by giving him your bright lights.

A special effort is being made to distribute films throughout the isolated settlements of the Northwest Territories where they are being well received, he added.

Mr. Gray also said the Board was also showing scenic films to tourists nationwide in such of Alberta's national parks to attract visitors with other Canadian attractions.

A film, "Song of the Mountains", was shown members of the Club. Twelve members of the Club are currently attending a district convention being held in Wallace, Idaho.

Loses Fight By His Feet

Police court today considered the case of the man whose feet were under the law: the rest of his body legally whole.

The weight of the evidence fell on his feet, and as a result he drew a 30-day prison sentence with the alternative of a $50 fine.

He was charged with being intoxicated in a public place and pleaded not guilty.

Police officers testified that they found him obviously drunk sitting in the side doorway of a hotel restaurant Saturday evening.

Under a technician of the law the doorway could have been considered a place to which the public did not have access.

But the accused man made the mistake of having his feet planted on the sidewalk—definitely a "public place."

Mumbling his way through what might have been an impassioned plea in his own defence had it been more audible, the accused admitted having had "one glass of beer" and claimed that he was "drunk every day."

The magistrate decided he was drunk Saturday at any rate.

UPWA Union Man Charges Company 'Deliberate Attempt' Hampson Accuses

The Swift Canadian Company was accused today of a "deliberate attempt to foment a strike" by Jack Hampson, Alberta representative of the United Packerhouse Workers of America.

Mr. Hampson's accusation was contained in a statement commencing on the fact that the Swift Canadian Company had terminated a collective bargaining agreement with the union, effective August 1.

"The termination of this agreement," said Mr. Hampson, "is an effort by Swift's to force unions to bargain on a local basis, rather than the present national basis, for which we have fought so hard."

"It is also an attempt," he said, "to destroy the Maintenance and Membership clause which states that when a packhouse worker joins a union, he remains a member of that union for the life of the contract."

STRONG OPPOSITION

"Any attempt by the Company to take away these two features will be opposed by our four-week strike," said Mr. Hampson, "and the representative of over 4,000 Alberta packhouse workers."

"We do not want to strike, but we will not back down on this issue," he said.

Officials of the Swift Canadian Company, when informed of Mr. Hampson's statement, refused to make any comment.

Oliver Dents Legion Twine More Than Any Other Club

By Bert Green
 Oliver St. Pats took one of the worst drubbings in the Edmonton and District Football Association League this season at Clarke Stadium Monday night—but they weren't a bit perturbed.

They went down 14-1 to the powerful North Side Legion, the club that virtually came right to represent Alberta in the Dominion Football Association playoffs by defeating Calgary Afters Saturday afternoon by a 7-2 score.

But the thing that makes the Pats so jubilant is the fact that they scored more goals against the North Side "barbarians" than any other team in the circuit this season.

"King Gus" in the Legion's spinning department was Bill Thomas who rifled in no less than six goals. George Ross counted four and Ed Humble got the other. Bill Hoskins, Pete Jones, Sam Davidson and Ted James scored the Oliver goals.

WIDE LEAD
 Showing superiorly in both territorial play and in front of the posts, the Legion eleven moved to a 5-1 lead before the weather, in the second half they counted six while holding Oliver to three.

FROM THE SHOWERS
 Manager Martin Collingwood of the North Side Club, was certain the Legion would have no difficulty with the Calgary Afters when they come here for the second game of the DFA playoffs, a total goal series and the Legion is five goals up.

Legionaires played under way in the Southern City, according to Martin. He believed that could have won them half a dozen more goals if they had gone all out.

Calgary Afters would have given the Legion a better run, he thought. Calries were eliminated before they hit their true stride, he said.

Secretary Leo Aaron of Anavets is bemoaning the loss of Ted Lewis and Johnny Mitchell. Although the Afters dropped a 6-2 verdict to Cloverdale Sunday.

Johnny Smith doesn't suffer from Cloverdale Sunday. Johnny was a member of the Cloverdale club 21 years ago. Last season he played with North Side Legion.

HORSE HILL BASEBALL BOASTS COMING TRUE

Manager Bill Clark said, and the fans of Horse Hill believed that the Hillers could do no wrong and would win it all in the Intermediate B division of the Pacific League.

At last it appears as though the party of the first part and the rest of the second part will have their dreams come true. For last night at Renfrew Park Horse Hill defeated the Braves 6-5 to jump from fifth to third place in the CVO.

The first game of a two bill ended in a 4-4 deadlock between the two teams. The CVO and second game Texas Oilers.

Horse Hill staggered five runs in the third frame to win the game. Triples by Bud Jones and Doug Smith, and a home run by Mike Mack, and walks to Jimson and Oliver, won the game.

The Braves showed it up to four runs in the seventh, but failed, however, to overhaul an 8-1 margin.

CVO scored once in the second and three times in the third to take a commanding 4-2 lead. But it went for naught when the Oilers of Star Oilers countered with a singleton in the fourth and three more in the fifth.

Dodgers Take City, Leaf Baseball Titles

Bruce Clarke, a 36-year-old right-hander, and Mike Naharnuk shared the spotlight as Dodgers downed Braves 8-2 to win the Maple Leaf title.

George Ross counted four and Ed Humble got the other. Bill Hoskins, Pete Jones, Sam Davidson and Ted James scored the Oliver goals.

Clark, a Bulletin Woodcreek winner, chalked up his fourth triumph without a loss while Naharnuk smacked a three-run homer in the fifth inning to give the victors that needed lift.

It was the second-straight playoff victory for Dodgers in the best of three series.

Trans-Canada Cycle Champ Trains Eye on Yaik Mark

By Jim Algeo
 The first man to complete a trans-Canada bicycle jaunt was in town for the Highland Games the other day.

And while he didn't do anything spectacular on the tiny South Side dirt track, he related an interesting tale of his rugged trip and told of big things to come from down United States.

The man in question is Fred Anderson, holding 43-year-old bike mechanic from Calgary, and his ocean-to-ocean voyage in June, 1946, made Canadian history. He rode the 4,300-mile from Vancouver to Sydney, N.S., in 29 days.

Fred, a native of Denmark, who has been pedalling his bike since 1923, plans to invade American highways some time next summer for a crack at the U.S. record of 28,000 miles in 27 days, 11 hours.

And off his Canadian showing (in most cases over only fair-to-middling roads) Fred should have little trouble chopping off 12 to 13 days.

At least that's the mark for which he's shooting. "In fact, as the Englishman would say, I should win it hands down." He is looking for extra speed because of the American super-highways.

The grueling Vancouver-Sydney jaunt related by the diminutive Anderson was anything but a soft-buck. First hardship along the rugged route came high up in mountain terrain surrounding Field, B.C.

There was broke his frame, and with nothing but wilderness staring him in the face, had to fix the bike a piece of wood and a wrench. The bike was in running shape, but he was forced to sit the way to Calgary, as it was impossible to steer while standing on the pedals.

Meatless Tuesdays and Fridays
 Ever try riding up a 12-mile mountain in a car? Well, Fred says you haven't tried anything until you've pedalled uphill while sitting on the seat of a bicycle. To add insult to injury, it rained the entire afternoon.

But the thing that got Fred more than anything else along the way was in northern Ontario, where he invariably had dire need for a bicycle on Tuesdays and Fridays. They were meatless days and Fridays in those days, and all I could get was eggs and bread. A man needs a healthy steak with all the trimmings when on a trip like that," he added in a huff.

Standing five feet six inches, and weighing the Toledo at 143 pounds, Anderson is a typical Scandinavian (renowned for their endurance over long hauls) and good friend of Torchy Peden, Canada's rider. Fred entered a six-mile race in Montreal with the Torch during the war, but was forced to withdraw because he lacked speed.

We'll ride along with Fred's boast of smashing the Yankee record. The route (Los Angeles to New York) is 1,500 miles the shorter, and good roads should give him a definite advantage against time.

Rent Up, Income Low;
Living Costs Grim

By Rex Thrift

There was an old man who lived in a shoe—and there will be again if the housing situation in Edmonton does not improve.

At the moment there are families of four living in a room in a half suite, some in rooming houses, some in unused garages.

In spite of rent controls, shoes for low income families can't afford to live in a reasonably decent house or apartment—unless it has the drawback of lack of convenience, outside the city limits or some other rent-repressing quality about it.

Always the lack of supply and demand governs the price market, and the price market must pay for things. But if you have to pay over half your income for rent—what are you going to do to buy food and clothing—equally essential for the preservation of body if not mind.

There's another shoe I'm carrying on my shoulder—that's the fantastically high price of shoes.

Shoes for adults, particularly frivolous shoes for women, are one thing but when it comes to shoes for a child of white shoe for a young'un of the skipping rope set—and still not getting a good pair—that's another thing indeed.

Children, naturally, are extremely hard on their foot-gear—but they have to have shoes on their feet.

Emancipation of nurses from the horrid task of starching their professional dress is finally coming to pass.

Nylon uniforms are invading the hospital-ward-fashion scene. These uniforms, it is claimed, can be easily washed at home, will dry overnight and are quickly ironed.

Most stains acquired while attending the sick can be wiped off with a wet cloth. The nylon uniforms, it is claimed, can be easily washed at home, will dry overnight and are quickly ironed.

Recently placed on the market by a Canadian manufacturer, they are available with long or short sleeves.

Peak of the chicken season will hit us about the half-way mark in July, so I hope and trust you're ready to go full speed ahead with the canning business.

It's a fine pile indeed, to have your summer washed-pitted red cherries and apples, looking like a day or so in advance.

For once the fruit arrives it will amount for you to accomplish their other tasks.

Following close behind the cherries and raspberries will be British Columbia apricots, peaches. The apricots will start about the third week in July, and the peaches, the fourth.

We may have a few lots from the south and east—but the bulk of peaches on the local market come from British Columbia and will be welcomed this year more than ever.

Plums, pears and grapes are in the season—but in the bright summer time, time doth still fly snatching grapes.

As time goes by and the cherries are a little less expensive, treat your fruit-starved family to a cherry relish.

Use rich biscuit dough rolled to 1/8 inch thick; spread with bit of butter, cover with pitted red cherries and sweeten to taste. Roll up like jelly roll, dampen edges to seal well. Bake on greased pan in hot oven about 30 minutes. Serve hot with cream.

WHY GROW OLD

Life With Relatives
Needs Understanding

By Josephine Lowman

Relatives can make you old or keep you young, depending partly on the kind of relatives you have, but a lot more on you. Life is mostly a question of choices, but not so with relatives! You have nothing to say about this from the time you are born until the time you die.

When you arrive in the world you fall heir to a whole bunch of relatives, all of whom are closely bound to you. You cannot choose your parents or grandparents. You can choose your aunts and uncles and cousins.

You marry, and then what happens? You find yourself living in the midst of a brand new group of people, most of whom you have never seen before, but all of whom you are supposed to adore and adore and adore.

You may have nothing at all to do with them, but you are supposed to adore and adore and adore.

This is a bewildering experience but it should be easy for the woman who tries to make herself pleasant. Your in-laws are ready to like you. They are even ready to like you.

It is too bad that there is so much squabbling in some families and gentleness in others. Family relations can mean so much in happiness and companionship and in comfort and help. We are all irritating to our relatives at times because it is impossible to have a large group of people together in intimate relationships without running into difficulties.

If we could just bring an extra portion of understanding and tolerance to these situations and give our relatives the same "break" we would be better off. We are apt to be more sensitive and more critical where they are concerned than we are with those outside the family group.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Man Should Beware
Self-Appointed Martyr

DEAR MISS DIX—I have dated a young lady several times, but my friends warn me not to get too serious, as although she has worked at one place for 15 years, she has earned $65 a week, she hasn't a penny saved.

She spends everything she makes on her sister's children and she says to after marriage she will continue to do so. She doesn't even dress herself properly.

She says she can't afford good clothes. There are six children and the father and mother are both well and hearty.

I am a bachelor of 33, making $75 a week, but I am saving to buy a home when I marry, if I ever do. What do you think of this girl as a matrimonial prospect? Do you think she ever would change? I would not like to spend my life working to support somebody's family.

DAILY READER ANSWER: I would like a dinner of the young lady in question as a wife, for when an old maid develops the proxy mother complex, she is apt to be a very good mother and a very good wife.

Any man who marries would always play second fiddle to her sister's kids, and she would always expect her husband to turn over his salary to buy the youngsters' fancy clothes and bicycles and football outfits and the other paraphernalia that the modern child demands.

SACRIFICE HUSBANDS It is a very common thing for wives to sacrifice their husbands to their poor relations.

I have known many cases in which men who were thrifty and industrious and highly content in their life, were never able to accumulate a dollar because their wives spent every cent they made on their families.

Always somebody was getting sick, or having a baby, or had gone behind with the rent, or Mother wasn't feeling well and needed change, and the poor, hard-working in-law had to foot the bill.

Otherwise the wife's family would have had to roll up their sleeves and go to work, which would have been just too bad.

Of course, it is not a very altruistic thing for an old bachelor to qualify as a mother's helper in a case where there are six small children, but before you do it you had better count the cost.

Double-Ring Ceremony For Margaret Emond

Pink and rose carnations and white peonies were used in profusion in Christ Church Saturday when Rev. E. S. Otley officiated at the marriage of Miss Margaret Yvonne Emond to Dennis Raymond Champion. The double-ring ceremony was performed at 7:30 p.m.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Emond of Edmonton, was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Champion of Edmonton.

Showering ivory satin was worn by the bride. Her gown was fastened with an off-the-shoulder neckline and featured a nylon net overlay edged with ivory satin rose buds, long, lily-white ribbons and a draped bodice with bustle effect on the full skirt.

White roses gathered her flowerlike veil to her head and she carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses and white sweet peas.

Attending the bride were Mrs. J. Blackwood, matron-of-honour, and Miss Doreen Candolin, bridesmaid.

Mrs. Blackwood wore lavender, sheer with satin-embroidered bodice. Her bridesmaid wore white, matching her gown and she carried Kokomo carnations and lavender sweet peas.

Miss Candolin chose mauve tulle and wore a cascade of Johanna Hill roses. Her bouquet was of pink carnations and mauve sweet peas.

John Candolin was best man and ushers were Reg. Blood and Robert Candolin.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Henry Wawadowicz, the bride wore a gown fashioned with a net overlay and long sleeves, butting down the front of the bodice. The skirt terminated in a long train and a coronet of blue peonies held her long veil in place.

She carried a bouquet of peonies and lily-of-the-valley. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls and matching earrings, gift of the bridegroom.

An Edmonton woman who has devoted two years to teaching the only class of hard-of-hearing children in the city is now furthering her work.

Miss Lou Knight, teacher of the hearing conservation class at Queen's Avenue School since its inception, will leave in August for London to exchange teaching in London for a year.

Hoping to learn much from English methods of teaching hard-of-hearing, which are far advanced, Miss Knight is looking forward to her trip. She hopes to visit the Continent during her year.

Teaching at a school for the deaf in London, she will stay in residence with other exchange teachers from all over the British Commonwealth.

London is the hub of all overseas exchange work," says Miss Knight. The exchange club has been established to regulate many activities. Ideas flow freely among that cosmopolitan group.

Not knowing exactly what to expect, Miss Knight thinks she may be helping several children who have been victims of war, losing their hearing because of bomb explosion.

Her own class of ten pupils here has been reduced from twelve to six. They are taught regular lessons in English in addition to reading and correction of speech defects which all hard-of-hearing children have.

Miss Knight took her specialized class at Canby Union School in London. She will stay in residence with other exchange teachers from all over the British Commonwealth.

Accompanying Miss Knight will be several other exchange teachers from Edmonton, Miss Winnifred Brown, Miss Marjorie Grant and A. H. Powell.

Tag day for the annual Columbia Flood Relief Fund will be held on city streets Saturday.

Mrs. Samuel Israel is convening the affair.

Assisting, Mrs. Israel are Countess De La Fite, Mrs. Leonard White, Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, Mrs. Frank Dyer, Mrs. E. W. Kane, Mrs. Boyd McBride, Mr. C. McLaughlin, Mrs. E. Worsfold, Miss Maimie Simpson, Mrs. J. E. Peterson, Mrs. Stanley Ross and Mrs. W. W. Kadle, Mrs. P. Mikew.

Fair-Weather Tips To Outwit The Heat

Take stock of these heat-beating tricks if hot weather withers you.

Wear light-colored clothing. Dark colors and black may be the last word in chic, but light-colored clothing which absorbs less heat from the sun will keep you cooler.

The more porous a fabric is, the better air-conditioned it will be. Wear larger shoes. Even clatter feet which don't expand during hot weather will appreciate roomier quarters.

Your reward for giving them ample space will be a bonneted smile.
